TRADITIONAL WEDDING CEREMONY

wedding moments
WEDDING
moments

The die is cast, come weal, come woe
Two lives are joined together,
For better or for worse, the link
Which naught but death can sever
The die is cast, come grief, come joy
Come richer, or come poorer;
If love but binds the mystic tie,
Bliss is the bridal hour.

Royal WEDDING MOMENT
My heart to you is given; Oh, do give yours to me.
We'll lock them up together, And thence away the key

WEDDING DAY

Let me not to the marriage of true minds admit impediments.
Love is not love which alters when it alteration finds, or bends with the remover to remove: Oh, not it is an ever-fixed mark.

That looks on tempests and is never shaken; it is the star to every wandering bark, whose worth's unknown, although his height be taken. Love's not Time's fool, though rosy lips and cheeks within his bending sickle's compass come: love alters not with his brief hours and weeks, but bears it out even to the edge of doom. If this be error and upon me proved, I never writ, nor no man ever loved. I'll be there my darling, through thick and through thin When your mind's in a mess and your head's in a spin When your plane's been delayed, and you've missed the last train. When life is just threatening to drive you insane When your thrilling whodunit has lost its last page When somebody tells you, you're looking your age

Once the realization is accepted that even between the closest human beings infinite distances continue, a wonderful living side by side can grow, if they succeed in loving the distance between them which makes it possible for each to see the other whole against the sky.
